

Younger Set Plays Tennis for Burden Cups at Newport

Miss Mary Ames and J. Gordon
Douglas, Jr., the Winners
—Surf Race Amusing.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 3.—The heat today was oppressive, and curtailed to a large extent the out door sports. Nevertheless the younger set of society completed its play in the mixed doubles tennis tournament at the Casino for cups offered by Mrs. Williams Burden. The winners were Miss Mary Ames and J. Gordon Douglas, Jr., who defeated Miss Fanny Wickes and Dyan Duncan in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. Mr. Douglas carried off the honors of the match by his speed and placement.

Among the entertainments to-day was a dinner this evening given by Mrs. Minnie Pinchot at Pine Lodge, which was principally for young persons. Mrs. William Farnestock gave a luncheon, and this evening Mrs. George Henry Warren gave a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren, Jr., who are stopping with them. Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Havemeyer gave a dance at their villa for Miss Carlotta Havemeyer, the guests being mostly of the younger set. Miss Havemeyer assisted to-day as an usher at the concert at the Art Association given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bonnell. The other ushers included Miss Kate Darlington, who gave a luncheon for those taking tea and Miss Jeanne Reynal. The concert was most successful, and Mrs. Bonnell, who formerly was Miss Pauline Curley, pleased her audience with her soprano voice.

One of the most amusing events of the summer took place at Bailey's Beach, it being a sea going mattress race in so-called doubles, a man and a woman being on each floater. The prizes were given by Mrs. Eugene S. Reynal and were attractive cups. The event was won by Mrs. Stuart Duncan and her son, Mr. John P. Duncan, who outstripped all competitors. The rules were drastic, including the fact that each pair should aggregate 45 years of age and weigh 275 pounds. Mrs. Duncan and her son proved equal to the entry requirement and paddled out and around the raft with great alacrity. There were several competitors.

The sea was rough and the breakers were responsible for many spills before the race was completed. The mattresses are narrow and built for one, and the scramble with two on board made a most active contest.

Mrs. Luther Kountze has purchased at auction the place belonging to the late De Lancey A. Kane bordering on Spring and Dixon street and Narragansett avenue. The purchase price of $25,000 was less than half of the tax valuation for the city. Mrs. Kountze and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Williams Burden, will occupy the residence next summer. The sale was arranged by Messrs. Deblin & Eldridge. Among the bidders was Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who went as far as $20,000, although she has a place in Bellevue avenue known as Rose Cliff.

Next Friday evening the commanding officer, Capt. Douglas E. Dismukes, and the officers of the station will give a dance for the officers of the fleet. It will take place in the hostess house at the station. Dinner parties will precede the event. Last evening Capt. and Mrs. Dismukes gave a dinner at the commandant's residence. This morning Capt. Dismukes and Capt. Thomas J. Senn started for Boston for duty on a court-martial. Mrs. Paul Sheedy of Carlisle, Pa., is visiting Mrs. Dismukes. Last evening a dance was given on board the Rochester, which is near the Jamestown shore in the bay. The ship's band furnished the music, and the harbor was dotted with lights as the small launches carried the guests from both Newport and Jamestown. Two decks were used for continuous dancing. Bishop and Mrs. James Henry Darlington gave a luncheon at the Corners.

MRS. WOODHULL MARTIN AIDS EAST-WEST UNION

Former American Suffragist
Helps Present Indian Plays.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Copyright, 1921, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau.

London, Sept. 3.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin, formerly Mrs. Victoria Woodhull of New York, the Union of East and West yesterday presented three Indian plays on the lawn of Lord Leverhulme's Hampstead estate. The plays were first presented at Mrs. Martin's historic manor house at Bredons Norton, near Oxford, and the success was repeated yesterday.

Kadar Nath Das Gupta told THE NEW YORK HERALD correspondent that he hoped these plays or similar ones would soon be produced by the New York branch of the Union of East and West. Yesterday's programme consisted of Kadar Nath Das Gupta's adaptations of "Savitri," "Kumala" and Tagore's "The Carwell Curse." A distinguished company presented the plays, of which the Times says "Savitri" reminds one of "Alceste."

Mrs. Martin, as Mrs. Victoria Woodhull, was one of the pioneer women suffragists of this country, and her younger sister, Miss Tennessee Claflin, now Lady Cook, being very active in suffrage work in the early 70s. Later they went to England and started a suffrage movement there. Mrs. Woodhull became the wife of John Biddulph Martin, a London banker, and a few years later Miss Tennessee Claflin was married to Sir Francis Cook, one of the wealthiest merchants of England. Both Mrs. Martin and Lady Cook are widows.

HIPPODROME REOPENS WITH 'GET TOGETHER'

Notable Audience Sees First Performance.

The Hippodrome was reopened last night with a new spectacular production called "Get Together," for the seventh season under the management of Charles B. Dillingham. The performance will be reviewed in THE NEW YORK HERALD tomorrow. A mere list of the principal features includes Fokine, originator of the Russian ballet and Fokina in a new ballet of their own conception called "The Thunder Bird," Charlotte and a corps of skaters in "The Red Shoes" ice ballet, Bert Levy, cartoonist, Perry Corwey, musical clown. There was an audience representative of the broad appeal of the Hippodrome attractions.

Among those present were Commissioner Grover A. Whalen and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sinnott, the Mayor's son-in-law and daughter, representing Mayor Hylan; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Genard; Mrs. C. B. Dillingham, Mr. Jules Glanzer, Sir William Wiseman, Miss Elsie Janis, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lindsay Fairfax, Miss Grace Fairfax and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newbold Rhineland.

Miss Lee, Actress, Who Posed as Eve, Boston Man's Bride

Stage Beauty Welcomed Into Wealthy Wheeler Family of Massachusetts.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Boston, Sept. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Wheeler of Fairlawn, East Lexington, are mightily pleased at the marriage last Wednesday in Holy Cross Cathedral, Lexington, of their only son, Carl Stedman Wheeler, prop school athlete, to Miss Virginia Lee, stage beauty, formerly of the "Greenwich Village Follies" and model for George Grey Barnard's statue of Eve.

While the couple were in New York to-day, about to leave for a honeymoon trip abroad, the wealthy father of the bridegroom was expressing himself in his office at 77 Bedford street thus: "We knew of the marriage and we are pleased to think that Carl has married such a fine, modest and sensible girl. She has been a frequent visitor at our homes in East Lexington and Chestnut Hill and our summer place at Nahant. She is very self-reliant, especially considering her beauty and the fact that she has posed for pictures and statuary. She has never said anything that could be taken as boastful about her looks or her posing."

As added proof of his high satisfaction at the marriage Mr. Wheeler said: "They can have anything they want that I can give them."

Young Mrs. Wheeler is 21, the same age as her husband. She is, according to marriage records at Lexington Town Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Glover of Plainfield, N. J.

Carl Stedman Wheeler is six feet tall and heavily built. He was on the Volkmann School football squad. At his father's gymnasium he has practiced against professional wrestlers. He met Miss Lee or Glover in New York about a year ago. The slender, gray eyed girl and the athletic youth bleed each other from the start. In April, not long after Miss Lee came back from abroad, they were engaged. The family knew it but kept the young people's secret.

After Wednesday's wedding by the Rev. Father John W. Culhane the couple informed the families, received blessings and left for New York, on the way to London, Paris and elsewhere.
